Undgå flere kolonner

The image shows two examples of form layouts. The left example, labeled 'Do', shows a vertical stack of four input fields. Each field has a label above it. The right example, labeled 'Don't', shows a horizontal layout with two columns of two input fields each. Each field has a label above it. A green horizontal line is under the 'Do' example, and a red horizontal line is under the 'Don't' example.

Placering af etiketter

The diagram illustrates two examples of label placement for form inputs. The left example, labeled 'Do', shows four input fields stacked vertically. Each field has its label ('Label') positioned to the left of the input box, and the input box contains the text 'Input'. A green horizontal line is positioned below this example. The right example, labeled 'Don't', shows four input fields stacked vertically. Each field has its label ('Label') positioned to the left of the input box, but the input box is shifted to the right, leaving a gap between the label and the input. A red horizontal line is positioned below this example.

Undgå versaler

The image illustrates two examples of form layouts to avoid uppercase labels. The left example, marked with a green bar and labeled "Do", shows four input fields, each with a label "Label" in a smaller font size. The right example, marked with a red bar and labeled "Don't", shows four input fields, each with a label "LABEL" in a larger font size.

Placeholder text

The image illustrates two different ways to format form inputs. On the left, under a green bar labeled "Do", there are four separate input fields. Each field consists of a label positioned above the input box, and the input box itself contains the word "Input". On the right, under a red bar labeled "Don't", there are four input fields stacked vertically. Each field consists of a label placed inside the top-left corner of the input box, and the input box itself contains the word "Label".

Spørsmål om feedback

The screenshot shows the AT&T website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the AT&T logo, a menu icon, 'Shop & support', a search bar containing 'I'm looking for...', a shopping cart icon, a user profile icon, and a 'Business' link. The main content area is titled 'My bill'. Below this, there is a section for 'Select a bill period' with a dropdown menu showing 'Current bill' and 'Mar 11 - Apr 10'. A 'Bill charges' section follows, with a 'View all charges' link and two expandable items: 'Previous activity for Feb 11 - Mar 10, 2019' and 'Wireless'. At the bottom of the bill page, there is a 'Bill total for Mar 11 - Apr 10, 2019' and a 'Print' link. A 'View paper bills' link is also visible. A 'Make a payment' section is partially visible on the right. A large blue and white pop-up window is centered on the screen. The pop-up has a blue header with the AT&T logo and a close button (X) in the top right corner. The main text of the pop-up reads: 'We'd welcome your feedback! Thank you for visiting our website. You have been selected to participate in a brief customer satisfaction survey to let us know how we can improve your experience.' Below this text are two buttons: 'Sure, I'll give feedback' (highlighted in blue) and 'No thanks'. At the bottom of the pop-up, it says 'Powered by ForeSee Privacy Policy'.

In the background, the 'About HSBC' section is partially visible, stating: 'HSBC is one of the world's... We serve more than 38 million customers through four global business divisions: Banking and Wealth Management, Commercial Banking, Global Banking and Markets, and Global Private Banking. Our network covers 66 countries and territories in Europe, Asia, the Middle East and Africa, North America and Latin America.'

Below this, there is an 'HSBC in numbers' infographic showing 'Today, HSBC has around 3,800 offices in 66 countries and territories worldwide'. A 'View the infographic' link is present below the infographic.

At the bottom of the page, there is an 'HSBC Cookie Policy' link and a small 'X' icon in the bottom right corner.
